PARK MANAGER'S PARTY

by Steve Rollison

Friday the 13th (of April) was not an unlucky day for Bay Lake residents! That was the day of our Annual Park Manager's Resident Appreciation Party – and it was quite a party indeed.

As we waited for Publix to deliver turkey, ham, roast beef and Italian subs, we were entertained with beach-style music by Darrell "The Dune Doctor" Clanton. Darrell has a beautiful baritone voice and can play a guitar with the best of them.

While Darrell took a break, Leslee Jones, our Park Manager, pulled random door prize tickets to give away a half dozen $50 Publix gift cards that ELS provided. She also gave away twenty $5 Publix gift cards provided by an anonymous (and generous!) Bay Lake resident.

After lunch and entertainment each Bay Lake household received a pop-up sun shade to put behind their car's windshield. It took a little while, but everyone who popped up their shade did eventually figure out how to fold it back up so it would fit in its storage case.

Be sure to stop by the office and give Leslee a big "Thank you!" She certainly outdid herself this year.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Steve Rollison

Thank you.

In this, my first article as president of the Bay Lake Estates homeowners association, I want to say two things. The first is "Thank you."

Thank you to Carla, who has set the association on solid ground through nine years of leadership as our president. She has taken the time to "show me the ropes," as they say, and has offered her ongoing assistance when questions and issues arise as I try to get all those ropes under control.

Thank you to... those countless volunteers who have chaired parties, dinners, dances, rummage sales, flamingo races and other "events". To those who served as committee members to help with the hands-on work of those events; to those who have chaired and served on "non-event" committees such as bingo, Saturday Morning Coffee, association meetings, library, treasury audits, and rent negotiations.

Thank you to the selfless individuals who have served on past boards of directors – especially the secretaries and treasurers who have borne an unequal burden of the board's work. And thank you to the new board's members who have promised to carry on in the example set by others, and who entrusted me with the leadership responsibilities of the association's presidency.

The other thing I want to say in my first article as president is: Help!!!

Please help by volunteering when the call for help goes out. I need your help, and the association needs your help. The number of individuals who have stepped forward to take on responsibilities since the new board has taken office is astounding!

There are several changes I would like to make happen this year, but I won't pursue them without the concurrence and support of the other board members – and I expect there will be times when I will want to get a feel for how all the association's members view a change before I decide to pursue it. Some people find it intimidating to stand up at a meeting and express their opinions. Even if that describes you, I want to ask you to please openly share your opinion when it is solicited, even if that occurs in a public forum such as at a membership meeting. If you don't speak up to represent the "silent majority," the "vocal minority" will sway decisions.

MEMORIAL DAY LUNCHEON

Karol Nickerson, Chairperson

The Bay Lake Estates Memorial Day Lunch will be held on Monday, May, 28 at noon. The menu will be Pulled Pork, Macaroni and Cheese, Cole Slaw, Rolls, Sweetened and Unsweetened Tea with ice cream cups and cookies for dessert. Feel free to bring any other beverage that you prefer.

There is a sign up sheet in the clubhouse. The deadline to sign up for this lunch is Thursday, May 24. It is important that you sign up if you plan to attend, so the committee knows how much food they need to order.

Hearing Your Words

by Karen Post

"He listens to my needs and problems", "I can go back to him anytime with any questions", "delighted with the service and the personal interest that he gives", "a willingness to listen and work with me" all of these quotes I found in testimonials from clients just like you.

I researched our testimonials in response to a question posed by a business mentor. He asked, "What is your business really good at doing? What do your clients love about what you do?"

Having been in this business for over 10 years, I was certain I knew the answer. We are really good at properly programming hearing aids. We have programmed over 1,200 with success. People have said time and again, how much better they heard after our programming. To be honest, I was kinda cocky about "knowing" what we did well.

Then the mentor said, "Go read all your testimonials and reviews, all of them. Even if you think you know what your clients have said about you, go back and read each one of them"

Two things humbled me. First was the volume of testimonials and reviews we have received from grateful clients, just like you. Second was the consistency of "he listened to me..."

I have a quirky sense of humor. The irony of a frequent compliment being "he listens" coming from people who can't hear, gave me a slight chuckle. Then I recalled how Blair's mom, MaryEllen, would vent her frustrations to Blair, since she knew he would listen.

If someone you know is frustrated with their hearing aids, and needs someone to listen and help, share our newsletter with them, or call us for a "listening" appointment.

COMCAST NOTES

TIPS FOR BETTER WIFI NETWORK PERFORMANCE

Wireless Gateway or Router Placement

You'll want to find the ideal place for your wireless gateway or router to broadcast the strongest WiFi signal in your home. Make sure to place your wireless gateway or router in a central location of your home, preferably on the main floor instead of the attic or basement - near where you plan to spend the most time with your WiFi-connected devices. The closer you are to your wireless gateway or router, the better the WiFi quality can be.

Next, position your wireless gateway or router so that it is elevated (off of the floor) and upright. Keep it away from thick surfaces (e.g., concrete floors and walls) and other household electronics that may cause interference with the WiFi signal, such as baby monitors, cordless phones, microwave ovens, refrigerators and Bluetooth-connected devices. Also, try to avoid crowded areas, such as inside or behind furniture, like an entertainment console.

Wireless Gateway or Modem Performance

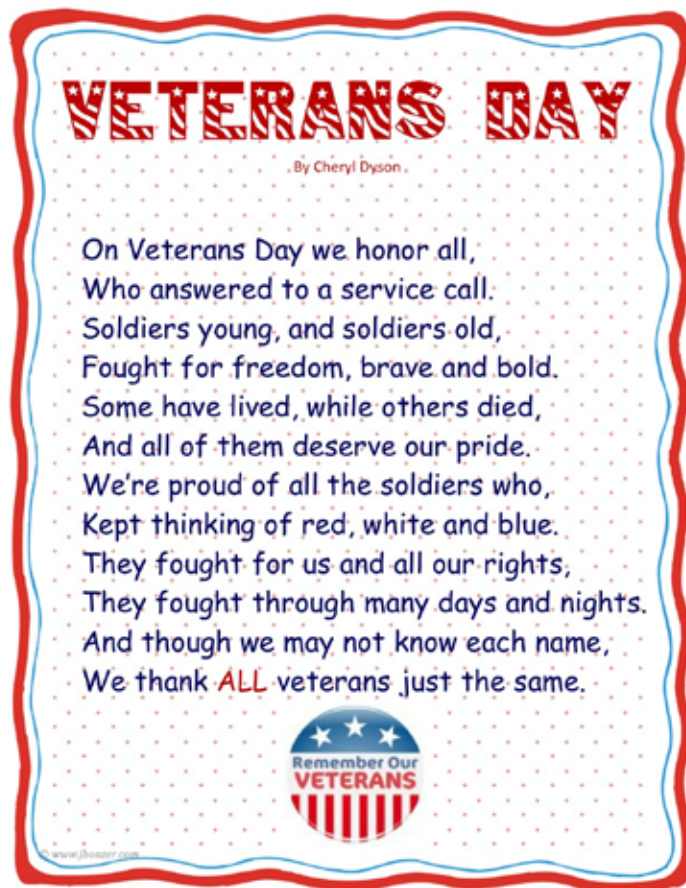

Rebooting (or restarting) your wireless gateway, modem or router is good for the equipment's health and for your in-home WiFi performance. Doing this allows your equipment to update its software and optimizes your connection and speed, all while retaining your saved settings. This is similar to how rebooting your computer, laptop, smartphone or tablet is essential for maintaining performance as well.

If you happen to use a separate router along with your wireless gateway, make sure the wireless gateway is in bridge mode. You'll also want to position the antennae of your router so that one is pointing vertically (12 o'clock), and the other one is pointing horizontally (either 3 or 9 o'clock) to broadcast the strongest signal.

Tips for Connected Devices

Whenever possible, plugging stationary WiFi-capable devices directly into your wireless gateway or router creates a more optimal experience for your other connected, handheld and mobile devices. For example, desktop computers, gaming consoles and video streaming devices make sense to be connected via Ethernet cable instead of wirelessly, especially when activities on those devices are taking up a lot of bandwidth (e.g., graphic-rich online gaming, movies or TV shows). Older devices connected to your in-home WiFi network may slow down the Internet speed experienced on your other devices. As a result, you may want to disconnect or turn off older devices to improve overall WiFi performance. Newer devices connected to your network should be updated with the latest operating system or application versions.
