FATHER'S DAY POOL PARTY

Janice Van Dyke

We had a great time. It rained briefly but not enough that everyone got out of the water. Lots of delicious food and about 38 people. The next pool party is on Sunday, July 15 at 4 pm. Bring some food and plan to attend. I want to thank Rosemary and Dave Baumgartner for helping Herb and I with the May and June parties. Sylvia and Sandy Richardson have agreed to help us with the July party. This will be the last pool party that Herb and I chair. If you want to have pool parties in August and possibly September, someone needs to step up to chair them. They are easy to do. Pick a date and time and let me know before July 12, so it will be in the August newsletter. On the day of the party, you just set up tables and chairs and set out plates, napkins, etc from supply room. There will be people willing to help you.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

by Steve Rollison

Last month I wrote that my theme for this column would be “change,” and that my focus would be on explaining the intended benefits of changes the board had made, and asking for your support for proposed changes.

There’s one other element of change that I overlooked: change on an individual basis.

For example... Last year, when hurricane Irma struck, Susan and I were caught totally unprepared. We didn’t have a plan in place, so we were left scrambling when it became clear that we would have to evacuate. In the aftermath we promised ourselves that we would be prepared by the time the next hurricane season rolled around. Well, the 2018 hurricane season has arrived; it runs June 1st through November 30th in the Atlantic basin, which includes the Gulf of Mexico. Yet we still haven’t created our response plan, much less completed preparations like gathering all our critical records into a grab-and-go pouch.

It’s time to make a change and correct that situation pronto – especially since forecasters are predicting a higher than average number of storms for 2018.

How about you? Particularly if you are a year-round Bay Lake resident, have you completed your plan and preparations?

If not, perhaps we can help one another and in the process make it easier to get ready. I have a couple of ideas in mind, so watch for a special “Event Alert” in your e-mail on July 3rd. If you’re not already an Event Alerts subscriber, you need to be! Just give me a call or send me an e-mail – all my contact information is in the resident directory.

FOURTH OF JULY LUNCH

Joyce Martin

The Fourth of July luncheon will be at noon on Wednesday July 4. There was a sign up sheet with the menu at the clubhouse. I hope you signed up already so you can attend.

BINGO

The last bingo for the season was on May 30. Bingo will begin again in September. There will be a special night of Bingo in honor of Lisa Godsoe's birthday. This will be at 7 pm on Wednesday July 18. It will be 10 sheets of gray for $10.00.

Be sure to mark your calendar for this special night.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN

All of our seasonal residence are gone for the summer. Kids are out of school and looking for something “fun” to do. It's not all kids, some are adults, We need to keep our eyes open and watch our neighbors property. Don't hesitate to call 911 if you see something suspicious.

BAY LAKER DELIVERY

Janice Van Dyke

Beginning May 1, 2017 through October the Bay Laker will be available at the clubhouse. We do not deliver it door to door in the off season as there aren’t enough people to deliver it. Please be sure to stop by the clubhouse the beginning of each month to pick one up. I would like to thank Carol Gilchrist for organizing and delivering the newsletter to all those that deliver the newsletter for her. I would also like to thank everyone that delivers the newsletter door to door

Machine Learning for Hearing Aids

Recently, we went to one of our favorite restaurants. This time the server remembered us and asked how we were. It was nice to have the staff notice us and recall our previous visits. It made me think of movies when someone walks into a restaurant and the waiter asks, "Just your usual?"

It is nice to be remembered.

This is where hearing aid technology is going.

Widex has just released a new technology, Evoke, that will remember what your preference is based on your environment. This leading edge technology is called machine learning. Machine learning occurs when we choose a preference and future options are offered based on our past selections.

You have probably experienced machine learning in other areas of your life. If you have Netflix you may have noticed the suggested movies will change to match your last movie viewed. Based on your rating of movies Netflix will suggest a movie that has a similar theme, emotional style, or characters.

Like all major hearing aid manufacturers, Widex offers an app for your smartphone. At their training I recently attended, they showed how their app is different. On their app, you choose between two sound qualities. You choose either A or B. The amazing part is if you consistently choose B when you are in a noisy restaurant over time your hearing aids will automatically adjust to your preferred choice when you enter a noisy restaurant. This machine learning response is what sets the Widex Evoke apart from other hearing aids.

The question you might have is "how do my hearing aids know where I am?" For years now, hearing aids have been listening to the ambient sounds to determine the best filtering to enhance speech. This is actually common programming. Your hearing aids have listened to where you have been, whether you were in a quiet room, a golf course with a lot of wind, or a noisy restaurant, and adjusted the setting to best suit the environment.

If you are interested in trying hearing aids that will remember your preference, please call me, 941-244-9300.

INSPIRATIONAL STORY OF THE YEAR!

Submitted by Michael M. Kloian

Born without legs from a rare genetic disorder, Jennifer's biological parents knew they couldn't afford the medical bills for the baby, and they gave her up for adoption. When she was just three months old a lovely couple from Illinois, having three sons of their own, took her in as their daughter. They were determined to instill family values into their new daughter, and wouldn't let her disabilities ruin her life.

Despite her having no legs, Jennifer loved sports. Amazingly, Jennifer was into volleyball, basketball and gymnastics. Jennifer was encouraged by her parents to follow her dreams of becoming a gymnast. By the age of 11, she had already won the title of power tumbling champion, and Jennifer started her gold medal collection.

Jennifer had an idol in the world of gymnastics, Dominique Moceanu. It seems that Jennifer saw a lot of herself in her idol. Both girls were originally from Romania, and they are both outgoing.

As Jennifer got older, she began to ask her parents about her biological parents. She knew she was from Romania originally but that was about all she knew about her roots. She was left in a state of pure shock when she was told that her last name at birth was the same as that of her idol, Dominique Moceanu. Both Jennifer and Dominique were equally shocked to find out that they were in fact sisters from birth! It took Jennifer a good four years to garner the courage before she revealed the truth to her sister. Jennifer sent Dominique a letter, along with documents proving that the two were sisters. Dominique understandably now wanted some answers so she contacted her parents who admitted that they had given her sister up for adoption all those years ago. In due course, Jennifer and

Dominique met and there was no question they were sisters, as they looked like two peas in a pod. There is also a third sister, Christina, whom Jennifer has also met.

COMCAST/XFINITY

New Enhancements for the X1 box now available:

- Added the ability to filter On Demand content to display 4K UHD programming.
- Added a Subscribe button to certain Network Entity pages, allowing customers to easily add a subscription network to their package.
