It has been a challenging year at BLE, and for many residents, it has been absolutely devastating. Many suffered significant damages in the wake of two destructive storms and many had to move out... a crushing loss for all of us.

Despite all the setbacks, I am happy to report that we have also seen many accomplishments and improvements. Although some of these may appear to be small or insignificant, a lot of work is usually required behind the scenes:

1. Approved over 70 amendments to our by-laws.
2. New Welcome Package for newcomers.
3. New HOA shed that is much larger than the previous dilapidated one.
4. Negotiated a new 3-year rent agreement with ELS.
5. Negotiated a 'rent-relief' program for homeowners whose homes were destroyed during the hurricanes.
6. Recruited several volunteers for HOA committees & events.
7. Installed message board outside of clubhouse to get more exposure for HOA events.
8. Received over $3,500 from ELS in gifts, gift cards and funding for our Beach Party.
9. Hurricane Helene and Milton repairs completed to Park buildings.
10. Repair and replacement of existing street lights to solar.
11. Added 8 new solar street lights with new poles.
12. New light poles to replace existing older wood poles or leaning poles.
13. Storm water piping replacement on Gardenia St.

14. Repair of street grate and asphalt on Orange Blossom.
15. New A/C, washers and dryers in laundry room.
16. New concrete curbing around the lake to stop erosion.
17. Additional rip-rap around the lake.
18. New fountain and lights.
19. Two new storm water boxes and grates on Bay Lake Blvd.
20. Island storm sewer repairs including all new landscaping, electrical and lighting.
21. New entrance lights.
22. Replacement of all stop and speed limit signs.
23. Approval for new maintenance garage.
24. New air hose moved to laundry room area.
25. Street line painting throughout the community including golf cart parking.
26. New low voltage lights on berm in front of clubhouse.
27. New shuffleboard scoreboard lights including new switches.
28. Repaired electrical and installed new receptacles in clubhouse.
29. Mirror installed for safety at Flamboyant and Bay Lake Blvd.
30. New home installed on Orange Blossom, and more to come.

I'm sure I've missed some of our accomplishments, but this list gives you a general idea that we are seeing some good progress in our community. Stay safe and healthy!

THE MONARCH BUTTERFLY

Monarch butterfly super generation live up to 9 times longer than most monarchs, migrates thousands of miles.

One of the most remarkable and mysterious migrations in the natural world happens from Mexico to the United States. Tens of millions of monarch butterflies are on an epic aerial journey home. They've spent the winter hanging out in trees in a forest on a remote mountain in Mexico, resting up after flying all the way from Canada and the northern U.S. where they were born. It's believed monarchs have been making this journey for thousands of years, but there's a lot fewer of them than there used to be. The population in Mexico has declined 70% in the last 30 years.

The 60 minutes team (including Anderson Cooper) arrived there in February, just in time to watch the monarchs emerge from their slumber, and begin to take flight. The monarchs come to the mountains in Michoacan in central Mexico starting in late October.

One of the guides in Mexico, Jorge Rickards, is the director of the nonprofit World Wildlife Fund in Mexico and in his words he gets excited every year to see the monarchs return. The monarchs roost in patches of fir and pine trees 11,000 feet up. There are some 66 million of them there, but it's hard to see them at first. There are what appear to be clumps of dead leaves hanging from sagging branches. But those are butterflies, tens of thousands of them clustered together in trees all around. The monarchs fall in a kind of hibernation.

On the way to Mexico, they've fattened up on nectar, which helps them survive and rest through the long winter months. The climate on this particular mountain is ideal. The canopy of trees protects the butterflies from storms, and though the air is cool, it's relatively humid so they stay hydrated.

Monarch are sensitive to sound so the guide and those near the guide need to whisper so as not to disturb the monarchs. The less talk the better.

On the forest floor monarchs litter the ground. But most are not dead. They've just fallen from trees during the night, and their muscles are too cold for them to fly. Those monarchs on the ground may be picked up and cupped in a human's hand and then you can breathe into your cupped hands in order to revive them with your breath. This is done in order to help bring their wing muscles back. When the sun begins to hit the trees, flashes of orange appear. The monarchs are warming and slowly opening their wings.

Court Whelan has been bringing tour groups here and photographing monarchs for more than 20 years. He shows the groups a spot where some butterflies have taken flight. Then, after a few minutes, suddenly... the air is filled with them. This is an extraordinary event to watch.

It's still something of a mystery how these monarchs manage to get there. Most only live about a month. They spend their short lives eating and mating, and females lay eggs. But in late summer and early fall, what's called a super generation of monarchs appear. Hatched as caterpillars, they transform into chrysalises and then, after a week or two, emerge as butterflies — and that's when they do something extraordinary.

The monarchs were discovered by researchers on this Mexico mountain range in 1975 and the Mexican government declared the area a federal reserve 11 years later. But for decades, illegal logging threatened the butterfly's roosting spots, which once covered as much as 45 acres, it's now down to four and a half. World Wildlife Fund has spent years trying to combat the destruction, assessing the health of the forest, measuring the size of butterfly colonies, and planting trees. They've also worked with local communities and indigenous groups to protect the land and help them profit from tourism. The good news is the forest is rebounding.

The butterflies are known to need some trace elements like salts and whatnot. And it doesn't look like much, but just this little bit of water found in a mud puddle is enough for them to get some water. And then what'll happen is they'll return to the roost before evening.

After about four months in Mexico, this super generation of monarchs are near the end of their long life cycle. They are finally ready to mate and migrate north to lay their eggs. They'll die before they can make it back to where they were born, and their offspring might not live long enough to get there either, but future generations will -- and there's an army of people trying to help them.

Monarchs returning to the U.S. need milkweed plants to lay their eggs on - it's the only source of food their newly born caterpillars will eat. But milkweed is now hard to find. It's been virtually eradicated on agricultural land, because of genetically modified corn and soybean crops that allow for mass spraying of herbicides.

Monarch Watch encourages people to plant milkweed in their gardens and on public land, creating what they call Monarch Waystations. Fifty thousand of them have been planted so far.

Is There a Hearing Problem?

Blair Post, HAS, BC-HIS, ACA

Board Certified Hearing Instrument Sciences
American Conference of Audioprosthology

Joe's checkup is ending, and his doctor asks, "Is there anything else?"

Joe says, "I don't think my wife is hearing well. What can I do?"

The doctor recommended a simple exercise to determine if it was her hearing. Stand about 50 feet away from your wife, when her back is to you so she can't see you. Ask her a general question and see if she answers. If she doesn't answer, step closer and ask again. If she doesn't answer, take another step closer and ask again. Keep doing this until you know she heard the question and answered it.

Joe went home and did the exercise. Joe stood in the hallway behind his wife while she was in the kitchen cooking. He asked in a clear, steady voice, "Honey, what's for dinner?" No reply. So, he took a step closer and asked again. No reply. So, he took a step closer and asked again.

After five times his wife spun around and yelled, "For the fifth time, chicken!"

While Joe's story is humorous, it illustrates a serious point: hearing loss often goes unnoticed by the person experiencing it. If you're wondering whether your loved one might have a hearing problem, here are some signs:

Frequent Misunderstandings: misinterpret what's said or respond inappropriately

Complaints About Mumbling: frequently claim that others don't speak clearly

Difficulty in Noisy Environments: they struggle to follow conversations in noisy places

Loud TV: set the TV volume higher than is comfortable for others

Withdrawal from Conversations: appear to disengage during conversations

Hearing loss doesn't have to create distance in your relationships. To find out if hearing loss is an underlying cause, call us at (941) 244-9300 to schedule your free hearing test today.

contributor Marian Brooks

We always need help. While some folks have signed up to chair certain future events, several events will need a designated chairperson to run the show, plan the menu, and find volunteers, etc. The 2025 Events sheet will be on display at the clubhouse in 2025 for those who wish to volunteer to chair an event.

Volunteers are always needed to chair and work each event. Some categories of volunteers are: Chairperson(s) to manage and plan the event, Kitchen Helpers (food preparation), Food Servers, Sink Duty (cleaning pots, pans, utensils), Set-up & Tear Down. To volunteer, please call the chairperson in charge of the event if you're inclined to assist. Many hands makes for an easier job.

NEEDED – one or two people to chair the Sunshine Committee.

NEWSLETTERS

Home delivery of our monthly newsletter has ended May 1st. You may pick up a copy at the clubhouse on or after the 1st of every month. Stay informed – read the newsletter. ### YOUR MOST VALUABLE ACCOUNT

You probably have an online account that many crooks would value even more than your bank account. Really!

Hacking into your e-mail account might actually provide them easy access to all your other online accounts – including your bank and/or investment accounts. But you already knew that – right?

You did know that already if you've been an Event Alerts subscriber for a while. That's because an Alert went out not that long ago, describing how a Bay Lake resident narrowly escaped being victimized by a crafty crook pretending to be an Xfinity employee. Yes, he was trying to con the resident out of his e-mail password!

What exactly are the Event Alerts, you ask?

They are short e-mail “blasts” sent out whenever there are news items, announcements, events or activities you'd want to know about. The Bay Laker Newsletter is great, but like any printed information, it's pretty much out of date by the time you pick it up.

Alerts are the best way to stay on top of things at Bay Lake.

If you're not already a subscriber, becoming one couldn't be any easier. Just send Steve a request at: EventAlerts@SteveRollison.com

A brief “Please subscribe me,” along with your name, is all you need to send.

MIRACLES DO HAPPEN

TIMING IS EVERYTHING IN LIFE

This age-old adage may be an old one but it holds true regardless of what is going on around us. There are so many examples I could easily share with you regarding this adage but I need not waste your time. This is what happened one particular day:

Woman survives close call as tree collapses on her SUV

(type this into YouTube.com to view the actual video)

As seen on UTUBE. I believe this incident happened this past April somewhere in Pennsylvania where a woman was at a stop light. Someone, for some reason, taped the footage of this incident as if they magically knew something bad was about to happen. Although the photo as shown was taken by me as a still shot from that video, then edited, she sat far behind the car ahead of her, then without warning, a tree collapsed on her car crushing her vehicle beyond repair. Why this is a Miracle Story is if you were to watch the video had she not pulled forward as much as she did, and there was more room for her to pull in closer to the car ahead of her, the falling tree may have came crashing on her car in a different position and killed her. The video does show her exiting her SUV in utter shock over the incident.

If you have a ‘miracle’ story to share, please send your story to editor@baylakeestates.org. Put NEWSLETTER in the subject line.

WHERE TO DINE - WHAT TO ORDER

contributor Michael M Kloian (912-547-2416)

ROSEBUDS STEAK & SEAFOOD RESTAURANT - OSPREY

Why I haven't dined at Rosebuds in several years is beyond me. So after years of not dining there I finally went there for dinner in early May with a guest, and not to one of my other fav local restaurants. After all, each time I pass their establishment, when driving north, I'm always impressed that their parking lot is packed by 5:00 – 5:30. They must be doing something right! Why else would the place be so busy by then?

First, I was impressed that I was able to make a reservation by calling about 5 days in advance for a Friday 5:00 dinner the same week. I like calling instead of making a res on-line. This assures me of a table as requested.

Upon examination on-line I found their menu to be exhausting, meaning the selection of appetizers and entrées is so extensive you may need to review their menu on-line prior to going and whittle down your choices to 2 or 3 selections until you are able to speak with a knowledgeable server regarding your choices. The servers always have a handle on what to order to pair with a glass of wine or a cocktail. Otherwise, some folks will sit at the table for a length of time undecided about what to order.

Since Duck is rare to find on any menu in this area, I chose to try their Crispy Duck which I found so very delectable. Duck is one item we never served when I was a Chef. I believe they oven roasted the tasty & seasoned twin legs & thighs (attached) then topped it off under the broiler to create that crispy edge that was very enjoyable to bite into. Nothing worse than trying to eat soft chicken/duck/or turkey skin.

Service was 5 star for sure as was the food that flew out of the kitchen.

Will I be returning soon? You betcha! Can't wait to try their Veal entre'.

MY FAVORITE FILM OR TV SHOW

HORSE RACING
FILMS for HORSE
LOVERS

Right around Derby Day each May, followed by the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes weeks later, I'll enjoy watching one of many Horse racing films I own starting with Seabiscuit (true story), starring Jeff Bridges, and Secretariat (true story), starring Diane Lane and John Malkovich. Secretariat broke all odds and track records at first and after many wins became horse of the year prior to racing in and winning his very first Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. What was most shocking about this miracle horse is he won the Belmont stakes (the longest race of the Triple Crown) by an astounding 31 lengths and his speed and winning time has never been matched following this historic event. Following that Belmont victory against his only rival horse that day they put him out to stud and scooped in barrels of money. I'll bet the horse loved it.

Then there is Hildago, the Mustang horse who travels to Saudi Arabia to race across the hot and dry desert and surprisingly finished 1st following an exhausting and very trying race against the best Arabian bred horses on 4 legs.

Then we have the classic film of all times – The Black Stallion (see photo), about a boy who survives a sinking ship as did the Arabian Black Stallion before they both survived and bonded on a nearby deserted Island and became buddy-buddy. The Black, as he was called by his new owner, and his rider (the boy) was later trained by Micky Rooney to race. There is a sequel to this film – The Black Stallion Returns.

Leave it to Disney to create a classic horse film.
